

BRYANT POND

Mrs. Edith C. Abbott

Franklin Grange No. 124, P. of H., met in regular session on Saturday evening, Jan. 19, with Worthington Master Arthur Ring, presiding. It was announced that Franklin Grange would be host to Oxford County Pomona Grange on Tuesday, Feb. 5. The Home and Community Welfare Committee will take charge of serving dinner on that date.

Following the business meeting Brig Gen Robert Millett (ret) of East Sumner spoke briefly of the civil defense set-up in Oxford County of which he is the head. James Lassiter of Bethel and Frank Bean, coworkers in civil defense, spoke very interestingly along the same line. Three reels of film were shown to an appreciative audience. The first was entitled "And Then It Happened" and was the story of Maine's disastrous forest fires which destroyed so much personal property. The second was a film on "Sabotage" which depicted various ways in which subversive agents could harm war production and operation in this country. The third film was put out by the Westinghouse Co. and was entitled, "Dinner at 6:00."

Refreshments were served. Everyone is asked to bring food to the next meeting for a tasting party.

On Monday evening, Jan. 14, 10 members of Judith Grover Tent, No. 17, D. of U. V., and four guests enjoyed a corn chowder supper at the home of Mrs. Arthur Andrews. Following the supper the regular business meeting was held and the new officers for 1952 were installed by Past President Bessie Andrews, assisted by Past President Verna Swan as Guide. Officers installed and those to be installed were:

The newly installed President appointed Leora Farrington, Phyllis Hathaway and Iva Farrar to serve on the floral committee and Edith Whitman, Ruth Dunham, Beatrice Farnum, Edith Hathaway and Bessie Andrews to serve on the relief committee.

Ruth Dunham was presented a Past President's pin and she thanked the Tent for the cooperation she had received during her term of office. Gifts were presented to the installing officer and her Guide. The next regular meeting will be on January 28.

A special meeting was held Friday night for installing the officers of Jefferson Chapter, OES, A. 6:30 supper was served, with Mrs. Bertha Davis and Mrs. Ruth Tyler in charge of the kitchen; Mrs. Esther Dunlap and Mrs. Esther Farnum in the diningroom. The installing officer, Bessie Frangodakis, Associate Grand Conductress of the Grand Chapter of Maine, was assisted by Frances Farnum as Grand Marshal; Cora Bennett, Grand Chaplain; Bernice Hill, Grand Organist; Ada Cummings and Doris Lord, soloists.

Officers installed were: Worthington Matron, Barbara Hathaway; Worthington Patron, Elden Hathaway; Associate Matron, Hazel Newell; Associate Patron, Walter Newell; Secretary, Ida Farnum; Treasurer, Addelyn Mann; Conductress, Elsie Bennett; Associate Conductress, Edith B. Hathaway; Chaplain, Annie Bryant; Marshal, Eva B. In recognition of her faithful service as Secretary for 25 years, Ida Farnum received a pleasant surprise when she was presented a bouquet and a purse of money from the members.

LAFF OF THE WEEK

"Don't you come tracking that mud in here!"

U.S. Needs Civil Defense

VOLUNTEERS ARE RESPONSIBLE FOR PROTECTING THE HOME FRONT

(This is the second of a series of articles on civil defense, based on the booklet "This Is Civil Defense" prepared by the Federal Civil Defense Administration. It may be obtained from the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C., for ten cents.)

By MILLARD CALDWELL
Federal Civil Defense Administrator

All persons experienced in work having to do with health or medicine, others who can be trained in special weapons defense (against atomic, biological, and chemical warfare), are needed for the civil defense Health Service. Their big job will be to care for the injured, and protect the health of a city after an attack. In addition, many more volunteers will be needed for various duties under the direction of professional people, such as doctors and nurses, in the local civil defense organizations.

The Health Service also must have thousands of persons trained in more than just first aid who can be organized for definite jobs at first aid stations, and women volunteers who have taken courses in home nursing and nurses' aides. Men will be needed as litter bearers, ambulance personnel, hospital orderlies and attendants, supply handlers, and maintenance workers.

Defense against disease and gas warfare, and against radiological contamination will need extra food inspectors, and sanitation workers. Radiological monitoring teams will need teachers, or advanced students of physics and other related subjects, as team leaders, and high school graduates who have studied elementary physics, and radio repairmen, who can serve as members of such teams.

Other volunteers are needed for clerical work, to keep records of the ill, the injured, and the dead, to aid in the procurement of blood for the blood service under the charge of the American Red Cross, and to be trained as assistants in laboratory work.

LOW DOWN FROM HICKORY GROVE

Well, since people, at this time of year, are trying to deduct what to do next, is not too difficult, if we will tune out the rattle and clatter talk, relax, be ourselves.

Our nation in a 120 years has grown into quite some punkins. With more ice boxes, telephones, automobiles, ya (Gee) Beauty Shops, darkened night spots, and buildings on our highways, than employed by any other nation, we are getting our oats. And to wait out and examine an old tried and true saying, "cheerless goeth before a fall" it is time, almost, to call the ambulance.

Nobody likes a wise guy, a braggart. With our legions, free spending type of Govt., we have made many friends, world-wide. Fair-weather type, that is but to the very ones that we imagine we are impressing with our superior and lavish grandness, we are garden variety suckers.

We know as well as we know 2 and 2 that Washington, and Franklin and Jefferson knew what they were talking out. They said we should take our own business, that method was as simple as that. It worked. Look at us now, our tail over the dashboard, an income tax sent around every corner still sitting half-palated, and in debt up to our collar buttons. Yours with the low-down, JO BEHRA

THIS PETTY PACE

BY BROWN LEE YATES

Miser's Lament
A fat old miser, rich as sin,
Apologetic as the money rolled in,
Lamented with a smug little grin—
I hate price gouging and venality,
Buying favors politically
And fine points of legality—
My neighbor I don't want to cheat,
But I can't help it—'tis my bread
and meat!

He made utterances, sage and grand
About charity in this great land
When dropping aims in an outstretched hand.
Two bills every Christmas Day
To some beggar in his way,
One time a handbill bid him stay.
Said: I hate robbing you in the street,
But I can't help it—'tis my bread
and meat!

When he was too old to utilize
The poor honest folk he did despise
Heath finally closed his eyes.
But even in limbo his avarice
Made him fear a funeral's price—
In his will he left advice:
Although you know I hate to ask it,
Please bury me in a low-cost casket.
Or maybe in a laundry basket.
The undertaker figured the bill replete—
Said: I can't help it—'tis my bread
and meat!

And when St. Peter the miser did greet,
Damnation ran thusly: Bread and meat!

The University of Maine is a land-grant college. The term "land-grant" comes from the fact that the Congress of the United States granted to each state 30,000 acres from the public domain for each member the state had in Congress in 1862 for the purpose of establishing a college of agriculture and the mechanic arts. Maine's share was 210,000 acres.

SCHOOL NOTES

In the past two weeks the Sixth Grade has been studying about birds. We have formed a Junior Audubon Club. Forty-six Sixth Graders have joined. We have exhibited silhouettes, stories, and poems of various kinds of birds. A few of the poems we have written are published here.—Dawne Christie

Gold Finch
My coat is a bright yellow,
I have a small black cap.
There's black and white on my wings and tail.
Oh I am a handsome chap.
—Carolyn Sprague

My Bird House
The birds are hungry today,
For the snow has covered the ground,
But they know where they
Can come and stay,
And there'll be plenty of food to be found.
—Sonia A Swinton

Humming Bird
I am a little bird the smallest that can be,
I fly around all day as happy as can be.
I go away in fall and come back in the spring.
I feed upon the flowers that good old May brings.
—Richard O Roberts

Birds
The birds are singing all day long,
They always have the sweetest songs.
And even when you're feeling low
They always make you smile and glow.
—Jane Kneeland

The Tree Sparrow
A little tree sparrow sat on a green willow tree,
He chirped and chirped as merry as could be.
Another tree sparrow sat on the ground,
All of a sudden a cat came around,
The little tree sparrow was not on the ground.
—Richard Saunders

The Chickadee
Of all the birds I know I like to see
The chirpy little chick-a-dee.
He is grey and white and very shy
Tiny too—and that is why
I need sharp eyes, if I'm to see
My little friend, The Chick-a-dee.
—Jack Greig

Little Robin
There was a little robin who came from the south
And now she has stopped right down by our house.
After she had taken rest, she started in building a very small nest.
With pieces of sticks and strings of hay.
She finished building her nest today.
—Annette Baker

Tommy Tit the Chickadee
Tommy Tit the Chickadee comes to my house every day,
And entertains me in his acrobatic way.
He has a black bib and a little black cap,
He wakes me every morning with his tap, tap, tap.
He swings upon the doughnut upside down
And can walk a tight rope better than any clown.
I love this little chickadee, that is very plain,
For he is the bird of our dear State of Maine.
—Martha Brown

A Robin
I know a cheery little bird,
Who wears a waistcoat gay.
He sits and tells his happy song,
From a tree across the way.
His mate lays blue eggs in the nest,
They number three or four.
When they hatch out, he feeds them
While his mate hatches out some more.
And when the winter winds blow cold
And all the trees are bare,
They all fly off to the sunny South
Without a thought or care.
—Johnny Gunther

"Unless New England furnishes community assistance to the textile industry in the form of management guidance, easily obtainable capital and modern plant facilities, the South will do it in abundance."

REV. ROBERT H. HARPER
Nicomodemus, a Hesitant Follower
Lesson for January 27: John 3:1-10; 45-52
Golden Text: John 3:3

THE NAME of Nicodemus is familiar to readers of the New Testament and doubtless he is always recalled as one who came to Jesus by night. Did he come by night because he was afraid to come openly? No one knows and, in view of the uncertainty, let us be slow to condemn him as cowardly.

The inquiry of Nicodemus led Jesus to speak to him of the new birth as so necessary that without it no man can enter the kingdom of God. Education, the law, and the resolutions of a man's will cannot make him good. Only through faith in Christ can a man pass from sin unto life. For only the power of God can cleanse the human heart.

Months after the visit of Nicodemus to Jesus, the Sanhedrin sent officers to arrest Jesus and bring him to them. But the officers returned without Jesus and said, "Never man spoke like this man."

Hearing this, the rulers vowed that the people who were hearing Jesus were accursed. Then Nicodemus spoke boldly and said, "Doth our law judge any man before it hear him?" Thus he intimated that the rulers were guilty of breaking a law they claimed to uphold. Certainly at that time Nicodemus did not betray any fear. Let every man be true to his own soul and give Jesus a chance to be heard. And let all who undertake to teach the gospel unto others make sure that they know whereof they speak.

"I REMEMBER"
BY THE OLDTIMERS

From Salena Taylor, Somerset, Ky.: I remember when they would take a hickory limb and shave it down and make a scrub broom. They would take sand and scrub floors and cedar churns and water buckets.

From Mrs. A. J. Kronewitter, Elkhart, Ind.: I remember when the men got the hogs ready for the winter's feed supply, each of us were assured of at least one nice long pig tail. We'd rush back to the house and pop the pig tail into the hot oven of the kitchen range and I don't think anything ever tasted better.

From Mrs. Eliza Harmon, West Terre Haute, Ind.: I remember the first show I ever saw was Uncle Tom's Cabin.

From Archie West, Cincinnati: I remember when I had a bad cough, my mother would mix some sweet vinegar with butter for a cough syrup and give me a dose. I believe it helped, but doctors never prescribe it now, so maybe it was just imagination.

From C. E. Pleas, Chipley, Fla.: I remember when children slept in trundle beds that rolled under the big beds. And when our cousins came to spend the night, we slept six in a bed—four side by side and two across the foot.

From Eugene Cannon, Miami, Fla.: I remember when most men carried pistols, perhaps to shoot an adversary not on a social par, but white men of equal rank could engage in violent fist fights and never even think of using the pistols in their pockets.

There is no community in New England which should attempt to lower the standards of its workers to the level of the South. The standard of living in the average New England home must be maintained.

TODAY'S meditation

THE WORLD'S MOST WIDELY USED DEVOTIONAL GUIDE

Thursday, January 24
If God be for us, who can be against us? (Romans 8:31.) Read Romans 8:28-34.

DURING a European trip before World War II, a traveler was taken on an officially conducted tour of Soviet Russia. A beautiful church building was among the places visited. The building was no longer used as a place of worship. It was a government office building.

The guide took the tourist up to the chancel steps to point out on the ceiling a painting showing the figure of Christ seated upon a throne.

"He seems to have been smeared with paint," the traveler remarked.

"Yes," said the guide, "we covered Him with gold paint, but He still shines through the gilding." We can take courage and be of good cheer, for we know that "all things work together for good to them that love God." Though people as individuals, and nations of people, often reject Him and try to hide from His searching love and demands for truth and justice and purity, He yet shines through the gift to give us hope, courage, confidence, and peace for the living of these days.

Prayer
O God, quiet our fears and anxieties with courage and confidence. Give us the assurance that in our joys and in our sorrow we are not alone, for Thou art with us. In our Redeemer's name. Amen.

Thought For The Day

When walnut furniture has been rubbed, it's sometimes possible to restore most of the original color by rubbing some linseed oil into the spot and then going over it with a fine cloth. These little spots on mahogany furniture can be removed if they are rubbed with turpentine which is allowed to stand for 48 hours, wipe it off then and the spots will disappear.

Finger marks on woodwork can be removed by rubbing with a cloth that has been dipped in turpentine. This removes the grease from being destroyed.

Grease on a furniture should be rubbed with starch so that it can be absorbed, or rubbed with a cloth of oiler. Then wash with diluted ammonia water.

RECIPE OF THE WEEK
Smothered Liver Serves 6
1 pound sliced beef liver
1/2 cup sifted flour
1/2 cup shortening
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1/2 cup chopped celery
1 cup canned tomatoes
2 medium-sized sliced onions
Pour boiling water over liver for a few minutes; drain and remove membrane from the edges. Roll each piece in flour and brown lightly on both sides in hot shortening. Place liver in one side in skillet and brown onions lightly. Add celery and tomatoes, covering liver with vegetables. Add salt and pepper. Cover tightly and simmer until tender, about 25 minutes. This may be served with noodles or mashed potatoes.

Unfinished wood surfaces which have become soiled can be cleaned by covering with the oil and saw dust. Brush off and then wash with soap and water. Oil stains can be removed by wetting with a mixture of kerosene and turpentine. If the oil is spread frequently, it will not wear in spots.

Flower stems can be freshened if they're dipped in and out of warm, salty water. Then rinse by dipping in the same way to clear water and keep on a time to dry.

Unkempt, frayed spots on rugs can be treated with liquid glass rubbed into the frayed areas. Lay dry so that the surface is flat.

Inflation is our common enemy. It hits everybody's pocketbook, home and business — cuts your buying power. Help keep the dollar strong.

Mark a special family occasion with a rich and warm mincemeat pie, served with soft custard or hot brandy sauce and coffee.

If your husband remarks that he likes to see company come be-cause then the food is extra good, it's time to pamper him alone! Bake him a luscious mince pie, with an "M" pricked in the top crust for easy identification. (This also serves a purpose—that of letting steam escape during bakings. Or, he'll be equally pleased if you surprise him with a good mincemeat pie from your bakery.

Using packaged mincemeat, all that remains is to make a fine flaky pastry to carry the filling. The experts have pastry-making down to a few simple rules: Cut shortening into flour to make a dry crumbly mixture. Sprinkle only enough water over different portions of the mixture to make it hold together when pressed, and roll out lightly.

Though it really needs no trimmings, this wonderful two-crust mincemeat pie may be garnished with wedges of cheese, or a custard, rum or brandy sauce.

MINCEMEAT PIE

1 cup sifted enriched flour
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup shortening
1/2 to 1 tablespoon cold water

Sift together flour and salt. Cut with top pastry and trim edges. Flute edges with thumb and fore-finger, or press together with lines of fork. Prick or slit top of pastry. Bake in hot oven (450° F.) 10 to 15 minutes. Reduce to moderate oven (350° F.) and con-tinue baking 30 minutes.

FILLING

2 to 3 cups mincemeat
Makes 1 9-inch pie.

BETHEL MAN HELPS SPEED DELIVERY OF VITAL MILLING MACHINE IN CONN.

(Reprinted from the Hartford, Conn., Courant of Sunday, Janu-ary 13, 1952.)

Twelve employees of the Han-son-Whitney Company worked con-tinuously for 18 hours to complete a heavy duty thread milling mach-ine for which there was urgent de-mand and which was behind on the delivery schedule. Under ordinary conditions a week or more would be used to complete the finishing job that confronted them at midnight last Tuesday. At 6 p. m. Wednes-day night the job was finished and the machine was in transit. The employees: James Collins, Carleton Kendall, Anthony Mokrycki, Walter Danelwicz, Thomas Theriault, Warren Blake, John Holland, Peter Elyosius, Joseph Perozzi and Don-ald Warner, all expert mechanics, volunteered to finish the job and with Raymond Thompson, machine division superintendent went to work. "Today's minute men" is what J. Van De Stadt, general manager called them and the plant man-agers gave them appropriate recog-nition.

OTHERS NEARBY

ANGELINA looked up from the paper she was reading and her gaze fell upon the peaceful countenance of the baby sleeping in its carriage. A cold fear brought on an involuntary shudder. Her eyes raced up and down the dirty, paper-littered street. But none of the other women who had come out to catch the faint breeze that drifted through the canyon of smudged-brick apartment houses were paying her any attention. They never did. Even here in this cheap back street women had their pride. None, not even Mrs. Quirk who was drunk more often than she was sober, would be seen associating with a woman who had been mixed up in such scandalous business as running off with another woman's husband and then deserting him. Land, she had her nerve coming back to face them all.

Only that ash blonde woman who had last week moved into No. 10 Whitaker street ever talked to Angelina. Her name was Mrs. Turner, and remembering her Angelina shuddered again. She glanced once more at the headlines, "Frantic Mother of Kidnaped Baby Taken to Sanitarium." There was the picture of the baby, Angelina, staring wide-eyed at the sweet little face, shifted her gaze again to the baby in the carriage.

Gradually a sort of clarity crept into her sluggish brain—a brain that had been sluggish ever since Jim Venn had deserted her after she had run off with him. They thought it was she who had deserted Jim. But it wasn't. She had come back because there was nowhere else to go. She didn't try to explain. She loved Jim. She wanted him, wanted a home and babies—but they would never understand that. They were men, but they'd never understand.

It was three days after her return that Mrs. Turner knocked at her door. "Oh, I know it's asking a great favor. But my mother, poor dear, is sick unto death. I simply must go to her. . . . No place to leave my baby. . . . If you only would care for her for a week. . . . only too glad to pay you. . . ."

Angelina needed money. She hadn't been able to get her old job back. She loved babies. It would be no trouble at all. "But—aren't you afraid—don't you hate to go off and leave it—with a stranger for so long?"

"Oh, I'm not afraid. There'll be others nearby."

The sentence repeated itself in Angelina's mind. She knew now. It was clear. So very clear. She thought of the frantic mother, of bean, 12,000 acres, up 12%; and barley, 7,000 acres, up 17%. Most of the revised goals for Maine crops are higher than those announced earlier in the season.

These present were: Mr and Mrs Richard Stevens, Mr and Mrs Raymond Buck, Mr and Mrs Harold Bartlett, Mrs Day Cotton, Mrs Norman Dock, Mrs Sarah Morgan, Randall Stevens, Howard Gunther, Timmy Carter, Tommy Carter, Miss Susan Ingalls, Mr and Mrs Richard Carter.

WATERFORD

—Mrs. Katherine O'Leary, Corres.—

Joan and Bill Fillebrown and daughter, Karan, from South Portland were in town for the week end.

Frank Morgan and Percy Kimball were in South Paris Wednesday on business.

Mrs Henry Sanderson has returned from the Maine General Hospital in Portland where she went for observation. Due to a breakdown of the Maine Central bus at Naples her husband met her there and also drove several of the passengers on to Bridgton.

The old 24-hour flu hit Waterford with a bang last week, those to fall foul to the bug were Charlotte Fillebrown, Margaret Doore, Larry Rounds, Charles Fillebrown and Charles Jr., George Doore and Kay O'Leary. If it was the twenty-four hour bug she sure stayed over time at my house. Let us hope he is out of town for 1952, better still, dead by Keoka Lake.

Walter Lord had sort of Open House up his way Thursday when his brother Roy of North Waterford and his son, Stanley and family, Louise, Ellen and Eleanor of Bethel, all came for dinner. From all reports Pa Lord and Nana set the table fit for a king. Father does things up right. He called on me while I was sick and by the time he got his car unloaded I thought Santa Claus had returned with some belated Christmas gifts. He said he knew I couldn't get out, well I guess he does not intend I have to go out for some time.

Several of the teachers and their wives and husbands attended the Norway Tri-Town Teachers meeting and turkey dinner Wednesday evening of last week.

Over at Col Farnsworth's his son, Jack and family, from Arlington, Va. are visiting before he goes on to Ft. Benning, Ga., for a new assignment. This young couple are very clever with snow men. They have several new 1952 models in the yard. I guess little Debby has her hand in there also.

You folks of the Waterfords know that the Knight Library is a public library and you are always welcome. The doors are open Saturdays 2 to 5 p. m. and 7 to 9 p. m. We now have several new books to add to our collection:

A PEEK AT THE STARS

By LYN CONNELLY

A NEW SERIES of TV films depicting exploits of medal of honor winners is being produced for next season's video fare. . . . A proposed television show starring Joan Bennett has been abandoned. . . . And speaking of the actress, most of Hollywood's sympathy is with her husband who, friends point out, needs someone to stand by him right now—not someone to divorce him. . . . It is unfortunate to see a man as brilliant as Wanger a broken man who has lost wife, prestige and position in just five short years.

NBC is frantically looking for a suitable package which can be tailored to the talents of Laraine Day and hubby Leo Durocher. . . . Dagmar's coming out of hiding. . . . She'll be back on NBC in March in a series of video shows which will originate in army camps. . . . TV mystery fans will be happy to learn that the Perry Mason series has gone into production in Hollywood and will be on the air before long. . . . A show starring Gloria Swanson has been scrapped by ABC. . . . Edgar Bergen wants to work in television, but only on a once-in-a-while basis. . . . It deals about once in six weeks, probably over CBS-TV. . . . Meanwhile Paul Winchell and Jimmy Nelson have proved that all Bergen has on there is the name and the money.

IDOL CHATTER

Hildegarde is another gal being sought by TV networks. . . . She is considered a potential smash on the new medium. . . . Maybe. . . . Personally, we'll take vivacious Dinah Shore. . . . Jimmy Durante will probably travel over to London in May for a four-week stint at the famed Palladium. . . . Peggy Lee has been signed for two quarter-hour shows weekly on CBS radio. . . . Tele-version of "Mr. and Mrs. North" will feature Nancy Coleman as "Mrs." and possibly Jeffery Lynn as the "Mr." . . . You'll never guess who received more Christmas greeting cards than anyone on the air, so we'll tell you. . . . It was Dr. Ralph W. Sockman, the radio minister, whose series, "National Radio Pulpit," has been an NBC fixture for 23 years.

Joan Crawford is asking for a revision on her Warner film contract which will allow her to do a weekly TV show.

A school committee meeting with Supt. Christie was held Tuesday evening this week.

Two officers from the filter center at Bangor held a meeting at the home of C A Judkins Tuesday evening this week, for instruction to the public of airplane observation.

One of the logging trucks could not make the turn quickly enough and ran off the road Tuesday afternoon, breaking a power line pole, so that the lights from one transformer were out about six hours Tuesday this week. W E Hicks and his crew, working after dark in the snow storm, finally found the trouble and repaired it.

Indian Problem Can Be Solved

HELENA, Mont.—Success of the postwar displaced persons' resettlement program offers a guide to the solution of the Indian problem in the United States, a welfare consultant for the National Lutheran Council said here.

Henriette Lund, who was here for the governors' interstate Indian council meeting, said "we have proved in our service to war refugees that we can tackle and surmount staggering human projects. What we did for the New Americans, we can do for the First Americans."

Miss Lund, who spent two years abroad in resettling Lutheran displaced persons and who has worked with two different Indian tribes in past years on relief and rehabilitation, said:

"Our help in the adjustment of the Indian to satisfying and useful citizenship probably involves a more difficult service than to immigrants, because of the primitive, non-literary, non-industrialism, tribal differences, language barriers and generations of mistreatment."

She described the Indians as "a fine people—able, proud, dignified, artistic and inherently rich."

But, she said, they "profoundly need our help to make them self-sustaining, useful Christian citizens."

MOTORIST OR PEDESTRIAN

—YOU CAN AVOID TRAGEDY

Don't be Maine's 3,000 traffic victims!

Records, kept by the Maine State Police since 1935, show that 2,940 persons have been killed in Maine motor vehicle accidents during the past seventeen years.

A further analysis of the records reveals that, excepting the war years, 1942 through 1944, when speed and travel were restricted, an average of 60 persons have been killed on Maine streets and highways during the first six months of the year. Unless there is an improvement on this average Maine's 3,000 motor vehicle fatalities will occur some time in June, 1952.

A concerted effort by all motorists and pedestrians could postpone this grim milestone in Maine's history. The Maine State Police Division of Traffic and Safety urges each of us to drive and to walk safely, to make it his personal responsibility to avoid tragedy on the road, to delay the death of this 3,000 victim as long as possible.

Samuel Longfellow

zens. We have it in our power to bring faith, hope and strength into their lives."

While advocating a joint spiritual-social ministry by church agencies, Miss Lund also suggested three ways whereby individual church members can help the Indians:

(1) Study the history and culture of the Indian tribes in our home community and state. "This will help to dispel false or unrealistically sentimental pictures of the Indian. He is neither a cruel, bloodthirsty savage, nor a noble, high-minded and picturesque son of nature."

(2) Respect the Indian as a person and help remove race prejudice and discrimination. "Americans were recently shocked when an Indian killed in Korea. As disturbing as this is the experience of an Indian scholar who met a 'no Indian allowed' regulation in a California community."

(3) Help the Indian to feel at home within our churches and to take part in community activities. "Fuller participation in the American life of church and community is necessary. We can profit by his talents and abilities in our stream of life as he needs the best that we have to offer. Human sympathy and a social conscience are requisites."

THE CITIZEN

HOW ABOUT THAT?

Late in November an article appeared in the press to the effect that women drivers are more cautious than men drivers. This article provoked a lot of good-natured discussion among motorists. Many males insisted that women have less exposure to accidents, because they drive much less than men do. They claim that a like amount of driving would place women far ahead of men in number of accidents.

The discussion went on. Like most discussions, no definite conclusion was reached.

What about walking? Are women pedestrians more cautious than men?

Here are some figures from the Maine State Police Division of Traffic and Safety. In the year 1949, 40 adult pedestrians were killed on Maine streets and highways . . . 26 men—14 women.

In 1950, of the 41 adult pedestrian victims, 31 were men—10 were women. Last year, 1951, 34 adults walked to death. Twenty-nine were men; only five were women.

Over the three-year span, there were 80 adult male pedestrian fatalities and only 29 adult female pedestrian victims.

Those are the facts and figures. It makes one wonder about that male argument.

Surely women must walk as much as men.
